→In the first week of the holidays on Thursday around the evening,My family and I and also my little cousin went to an Arcade,the name of the place was called Timezone,It took as about twenty minutes to get there which was almost half an hour,Right after we got there we walked about two minutes in to the place,Once we walked in,My mother at least put about 75$ into the Timezone's Card,Me and my little sister and cousin went to the first game in the Arcade,Which was the one with heaps of Candy 'n' lollies,It took as about 2-3 times to get at least one or even two Lollies,then after that we went to this basketball game nearly at the back of Timezone or side,Me and my little cousin versed each other which was pretty hard since we tried getting the Basket ball into the actual basket hoop,Since me and my little cousin weren't that good at basketball we at least had to try,Me and my cousin versed for about 50 seconds,I scored about 12 while my cousin scored two more than me,so she decided to verse my little sister which was gonna be even more intense since that my cousin was about eight while my sister was nine,though it was starting and they were both laughing and focus in the game,about 10 seconds in the game,my sister had about 14 while my cousin had 17,by the time was finshed my sister scored about 16 and my cousin scored 21 which was impressive actually, We also went to this other game which was pretty much so much fun for the three of us,while my big brother and two older sisters and father went to another game around our area,It took me and my cousin and sister about three minutes to finish the game, We walked over to another game that i knew it was gonna be very, very fun for us, right after we only stayed there for about 1 and a half hours, to me i thought of it pretty much fun and exciting oh though i was kinda nervous since ive never been there before, we won at least 2,000 tickets there, once we got home we all had fish'n'chips with pizza for dinner with an drink on the side, and for dessert we had ice cream biscuits and some chocolate.
